

PHYSICAL SECURITY STOCKPILE MANAGEMENT

Physical security stockpile management (PSSM) is essential in reducing the threat of aging stockpiles of conventional weapons and munitions around the world. Poorly secured weapons and munitions stockpiles are often attractive targets for terrorists, criminals, and insurgent groups. Janus Global Operations performs cradle to grave PSSM services at home and abroad. Regardless of the size and scope of your project, Janus provides a full range of PSSM services including munitions depot facility restoration, facility operations and management, facility construction, physical security, munitions stockpile reduction and disposal services, and personnel training in support of any national or international requirement.

CLIENT CHALLENGES

- Using assessment and planning process to determine the specific need and approach for stockpile reduction
- Identifying and implementing the appropriate level of physical security and safety/security procedures
- Knowledge of the condition of stockpiles

THE JANUS GLOBAL SOLUTION

- Our staff, together with competent business partners, has had substantial exposure to projects requiring the use of incineration, washout with constituent recycling, blast chamber technologies, or open burn/open detonation for the demilitarization of any type of conventional ammunitions.
- Janus successfully demilitarized close to 100,000 tons of unserviceable munitions, from small arms and landmines to the largest bombs, rockets, and missiles, along with countless delivery systems, in multiple conflict stricken countries.
- We strictly follow PSSM provisions of the Department of Defense, Department of the Army, and other local and international standards and regulations.
