

RANGE SUSTAINMENT

Realistic training ranges are one of the military's most valued assets in preparing its warfighters for their missions; yet the military impact ranges are littered with legacy targetry and unexploded ordnance (UXO) adversely affecting the environment and the quality of warfighter training. Janus Global Operations' RangeXchange® program offers a comprehensive, long-term solution to strengthen live-fire training and range operations. RangeXchange® encompasses three services, GreenRange®, GreenScrap®, and GreenTarget®. These services collaboratively optimize range managers' existing resources to provide measurable operational, financial, and environmental advantages.

CLIENT CHALLENGES

- Ability to integrate military readiness with environmental stewardship
- Presence of munitions constituents and UXO diminishes public safety and environmental quality

THE JANUS GLOBAL SOLUTION

- Green Range® - Superior range maintenance and site clearance operations for all ordnance types. Keeps ranges green and promotes total operational readiness
- GreenScrap® - Trusted proprietary five-step debris inspection, certification, and disposal/recycle process. Supports scrap resale at commercial prices, reducing overall project cost.
- GreenTarget® - Cost-effective, 100% recyclable and environmentally friendly alternative to using traditional surplus military vehicles as targets. Each 3-D profile is ideal for live-fire training, quickly ready for use, and easily installed by existing air or ground assets.
